

CAVALIERS OF THE WEST
09/04/2017 BELLEVUE, WASHINGTON
VANESSA N WEBER KENJOCKETY CAVALIERS

I enjoyed my judging assignment in Bellevue, Washington tremendously. I wish to thank everyone on the show committee for the invitation and for all the assistance you gave me - especially Kathy Tegg, who was my guide for the weekend and was wonderful, helpful and patient. Thank you, also, to my stellar stewards and announcer; Kevin Ellingson, Susan Lockleer, Kathy Tegg (yet again) and Heidi Mohn.

Many years ago, I was encouraged to ask Jo Ann Carvill if I could put my hands on Ch BJ Holy Terror so that I could find out why he was doing so much winning at the time. Experiencing a dog with such significant substance and bone was a revelation to me as a new exhibitor. If you haven't had that experience, I urge you to get up your courage to do the same. Several of my top exhibits had lovely bone for their size and it was a pleasure to find them.

I was pleased to see many fewer dropped croups. On the other hand, there were several Cavaliers that were close behind, which needs watching. I was also struck by the number of Cavaliers with the most beautiful rich color, especially the Blenheims and Rubies. Don't ever lose this - despite the possibility that you may not see as much coat in these darker reds - as it can be impossible to get back. In American Cockers rich reds and tans have mostly disappeared.
